Stanhope backs Gerald Bain

Over 50 Stanhope rate-payers crowded the Stanhope community centre last Wednesday to hear council's stand on the supposed resignation of the township clerk.

Louise Watson presented council with a 408 signature petition stating it had become known that council received a letter suggesting the clerk-treasurer, Gerald Bain, be relieved of his duties. The petition went on to say that Mr. Bain should be retained 'at all cost'.

Mr. Bain had publicly stated earlier that he would resign if after a six month probationary period the fire chief, Dick Kinsman, was hired permanently.

Mrs. Watson said the petition was a completely separate matter from the fire department.

"We want Gerald Bain retained and we want a resolution to that fact today," said Mrs. Watson.

"Hear, Hear" said the crowd accompanied by a round of applause.

Mrs. Watson added the group she was representing also wanted to know the letter head used on the letter in question, the name of the person who wrote it and also wanted the contents of the letter read to the audience.

Since the letter had been dealt with 'in camera' the reeve, Jim Harrison, was hesitant to read the contents.

"I don't mind making it public knowledge, if it was public business but the letter was addressed to Jim Harrison, it says nothing about being the reeve."

But despite his hesitation, the reeve instructed Mr. Bain to read the letter.

Boshkung Lake Cottager's Association was the letter head and it was signed by Bev Robinson, treasurer. The letter asked for council's support in relieving Gerald Bain of his duties and suggested he was the real instigator of the fire department problems.

One member of the Boshkung Lake Cottagers Association stood up after the letter had been read and said he had no knowledge of any meeting or discussion being held to authorize the letter and wanted to completely disassociate himself from it.

When asked by council if any meeting had been held Dorothy Kinsman, secretary for the association refused to comment.

Eleanor Patton told council the letter should have been kept confidential because it had been dealt with 'in camera' but the results of that meeting should have been made public.

When asked how council would act upon the letter, councillor Roger Wood said it was obvious how council was

BIA needed for 1% loan

A loan at the interest rate of one percent might be available to Minden Businessmen if they form a business improvement area (BIA).

The ministry of housing is offering the low interest loans to towns that form the BIA to help improve the business core of the town.

The Minden Businessmen's Association is trying to get the wheels rolling but all the businesses in the core need to be informed which the association is planning as its next step.

To get the BIA loan two-thirds of the businesses in the area must approve of the program. If that approval is achieved the remaining businesses will be forced to participate.

The loan may be used for any improvement done on municipal property within the designated core. President Jerry Pilsworth suggested improving the sidewalks, parking areas or Christmas decorations as possible improvements.

If a BIA is organized a ten-year loan up to $150,000 would be applied for the municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden. Repayment of the loan would be added to each businesses' taxes within the BIA on the following basis: realty assessment of business divided by the realty assessment of total BIA times the budget equals the cost to each individual business in the core area.

If the BIA becomes a reality a board of management consisting of six members and one council member will be set up.

Log building and central evaporator system highlight first meeting

A log and timber joinery guild and a centralized maple syrup evaporator were two of the suggestions put before the Haliburton County Economic Development Commission at PineStone Inn last Wednesday night.

The commission members present were Jim McLean, Murray Fearrey, Barb Bolin, chairman Glen Hodgson, Sinc Nesbitt, Mack Mc Gilvary and Bill Valentine.

Gary Kenney, of Blairhampton Alternative, a mail order catalogue for log building tools, told the commission that he would like to see a log and timber joinery guild formed to build log houses thus promoting log building in the area.

He said energy will be a major criteria for our economy in the next 10 years and log building is one of the most energy efficient alternatives to industry.

"Petroleum products would amount to $500 in building a house. This includes the use of chainsaw and 200 miles allotted for transporting logs," said Mr. Kenney.

He said at present most of the building materials for houses are sent out of the county for processing and return as wallboards or other building products.

"The 'R' factor or insulation factor increases as the temperature drops," he said adding that the 'R' factor could increase as much as 50 percent.

If a guild was formed, it could employ as many as 50 log builders and six to 10 helpers with the goal of building a minimum of 10 houses a year, said Mr. Kenney.

This profession would bring fulfilment to employees and offer skills and techniques which have been lost for years, continued Mr. Kenney.

He said the guild would need approximately $75,000 for raw materials, literature, advertising and land, about two or three acres. The land would be used for office

Ed.'s Note: This is the second in a series of column quoting candidates on issues that will be of concern to the public when they go to the polls on May 22. THIS WEEK: Bill C-51, a legislation passed in parliament, restricts the use of firearms. This bill has been a sore spot with many area residents, if elected would you make any changes in this legislation.

DAVID LOGAN, Liberal
"There are a few revisions that I would like to see enacted, there are, also, certain parts that have to be looked at to see if what is recommended is fulfilling the objective of the bill," Mr. Logan told The Times last Thursday.

He said the meaning of careless use of a firearm should be clarified because what is careless use to one person may not be to another.

"We're not in the middle of Toronto, in Victoria-Haliburton hunting is a way of life," he added.

"The needs of the rural communities have to be taken into consideration," Mr. Logan continued.

"I've talked to the crown attorney at length about this and he assured me that the intent of the legislation is to stop the emotionally upset or disturbed person from committing a crime."

"The bill has to be reviewed in light of honest gun users," he said.

"We're in a tough position, with strong political members from congested urban centres where the needs of the people are quite different from rural gun users," said the liberal candidate.

First workshop a success

The Economic Development Commission's first workshop at the PineStone Inn was well attended and the submissions were well thought out and well presented. The opening presentation offered by Garry Kenny certainly represented a great deal of thought and effort on his part and the round of applause he received was certainly well deserved.

The second workshop to be held this Wednesday at the Frost Centre will be led off with a presentation made by the Frost Centre itself. The Frost Centre does play an important role in the economy of that particular part of our County, and their particular presentation will provide details on just what that role is and consider some alternatives on how it may be expanded.

There were many who attended last Wednesday's workshop simply to listen in on their proceedings and they are of course, most welcome to do so. We should remember however that these meetings will only be as interesting and as productive as the subject matter that is presented and we do hope that many of those who have now listened to other presentations be moved to make one of their own. The plan of action for the Economic Development Commission will be built around the submissions resented so if your ideas are not submitted they can hardly be included in the plan.

Ontario budget recognizes the importance of tourism

In the budget presented by the Honorable Mr. Millar on April 10th there were some plums for the tourist industry. The present exemptions for transient accommodation sales tax has been extended from December 31st 1979 to March 31st, 1981. A number of representations have been made to government to have this particular tax discontinued permanently, but certainly an extension of the exemption is important at this time. Also exempt from now until March 31, 1981 is tax on equipment and furnishings for restaurants and tourist accommodations. This exemption recognizes the importance of upgrading existing facilities throughout the industry. "There is no doubt that tourists are becoming more and more demanding for quality facilities and the operators who are continually upgrading their premises will profit from this trend. It is hoped there will be more announcements forthcoming from the provincial government regarding assistance in this category. The fact that visitors from outside Ontario may have all of their provincial sales tax refunded to them is not new, but only now is it being given a great deal of publicity. Folders explaining this along with an application for a tax refund are now being printed by the Ministry of Revenue and will be distributed by the Chamber office. Our visitors will certainly appreciate being made aware of these facts.

So much is happening

We do in this column attempt to keep our readers informed on new businesses, new owners and new facilities in the County as they happen. This Spring it seems like so many things are developing that it's almost impossible to keep up with it. We just got a chance the other day to visit the new Bake Shop facilities in Red & White Store in Haliburton which is proving very popular with local shoppers. Across the road Paulette's Antiques and Gifts has moved to a store front location in the same building. It was amazing what an attractive store Paulette was able to form in her downstairs location and with the new facilities her shop is even more intriguing.

John Beachli's crew wasted little time these past few weeks in dismantling the old I.G.A. building and as the lot is now cleaned up there is much anticipation about the new Bank of Montreal quarters that will be rising in that spot.

We shed a tear as Drag Lake Lodge passes out of existence as a resort to become a Camp for Medically Handicapped children. This well known old resort will be missed but the new facilities to be offered on that property hopefully will be good for our economy and provide considerable employment.

Down in Minden, Keith and Eva Prior are busy working on the old Cameo restaurant where they will soon open their new bakery and snack bar. Out on the Hwy. just next to the O.P.P. station, Maggie and Earl Ross have just opened Maggie's Marvellous Munchies to serve the travelling public with hamburgers, hot dogs, french fries, soft ice cream and the like.

Andrew and Joyce Broersma have just purchased the Kushog Korner Cottages and Snackbar on Hwy. 35 on Lake Kushog and will be continuing to provide the travelling public with the friendly service Ken Brown was so well known for.

We welcome all these folks to the community and hope you will all make them feel welcome. There are at least six more new ventures that we are aware of but where announcements are not yet in order. We'll keep you posted.

Tartan

The dilemma of no longer having our official Haliburton Highlands Tartan has now been rectified through the kind co-operation of Haliburton County Council. A new supply has been ordered in Scotland and will be available within three months. Unfortunately, due to the fantastic increase in wool prices and the exchange on our dollar to an English pound, cost of the Tartan is almost double what it was the last time we purchased it. It is, however, gratifying to note that according to the latest budget the Tartan will now be exempt from the provincial sales tax. That helps a bit.

Council backs Bain

acting or Mr. Bain wouldn't have been serving as clerk at the meeting.

Council was unanimous in its support of the clerk but members said there was nothing they could do if Mr. Bain submitted his resignation.

"I need Gerald this year and next year and the township needs him too," said Reeve Harrison adding that "no one was irreplaceable."

Apparently the situation will remain the same in Stanhope until the fire chief's probation period ends in June when council will be forced to make a decision. The only other hope is that the two men, Mr. Bain and Mr. Kinsman, will be able to settle their differences of opinion before that time.

"There is no animosity between Dick and I," said Mr. Bain, adding "just because we have a difference of opinion doesn't mean we can't be friends."

The reeve said the men are getting together to try and work their differences out.

Over 50 interested ratepayers attended last Wednesday's Stanhope council meeting. The meeting had to be relocated to the community centre because too many people were present to squeeze into the council chambers.

buildings, made from logs, and to prebuild houses on for later transportation to the consumer's property.

The next industry suggested was a centralized maple syrup evaporator as presented by Charles Tyler.

He told the commission that the central evaporator would be an asset because it would create jobs when employment opportunities were the lowest.

Maple syrup production has dropped drastically in the past few years, but he pointed out that more people would be interested if they just had to gather the sap, put it into barrels and let a tanker truck pick it up.

He said a similar project was attempted 10 years ago but although financial assistance was available from the provincial government none was available locally.

"This is one of the few industries that makes a product without destroying the natural resource," Mr. Tyler pointed out.

Although he didn't have any up-to-date figures, Mr. Tyler said $25,000 was needed 10 years ago for an oil-fired evaporator. He said an oil burner makes the temperature of the syrup easier to control.

Clarence McInerney, of Minden, suggested that a public road be extended three miles into Beer Lake to open the crown land up for recreational uses.

Ron Gambell, reeve of Lutterworth township, said the township would like the commission's assistance in asking Queen's Park to rezone some land for industrial use.

"Lutterworth is the logical location for light industry," he said pointing out that both highways 121 and 35 were accessible to the township.

The next suggestion was that the airport be promoted as transportation for industry and executives.

Larry McKnight said that since the rail line has become questionable, an airport could be helped along by federal and provincial funding.

Patti Smith of the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts, said she would like to see each community support its local artists and artisans by providing the tourists with more information.

It was also suggested, by Carol Finn, that Sir Sanford Fleming College and the guild be treated as two different entities as the school could be used as an industry to provide employment in the area.

The last presentation of the evening was given by Murray Fearrey, Reeve of Dysart et al. He said that much of the wood wasted by local industries could be used to make furniture, canoe paddles, tennis rackets and other products.

He said large greenhouses could be fired by wood as another alternative.

"We have something to sell in the county, we just haven't put our finger on it yet," said the reeve.

The commission will be taking these briefs, along with the briefs from the two other public meetings to be held shortly, and will design a program based upon all the briefs.

$280 Welder Stolen

A Lincoln Electric welder valued at $280 was stolen from a cottage between January 21 and March 17.

Harry Hunting, of Oakville, found his cottage had been entered by forcing a window and access was obtained to an outside storage shed where the welder was kept.

The incident was only reported this weekend.

Minden Bakery now open

The new Minden Bakery opened last weekend, featuring 84 different varieties of fresh baked goods, submarine sandwiches and other quick snacks.

The bakery, operated by Keith Prior, is located in the former Cameo Restaurant. Extensive renovations have been completed giving the shop a bright and spacious appearance.

The fresh baked goods are supplied by Graham's bakery of Lindsay, who also cater to the Peterborough Civic Hospital.

Mr. Prior stressed that the baked goods are not pre-frozen and then baked. He said they are fresh baked daily and can be frozen where they will remain as fresh as the day they were bought.

Man has 2 accidents in half hour

A Toronto man had two accidents within a half an hour of each other early last Wednesday morning.

David Wood, 31, was treated for minor injuries at Haliburton Hospital after the second accident of North Kashagawigamog Road was investigated.

The investigating officer, Jim Solway, became suspicious at the scene of the second accident as damage to the car, after apparently only hitting a tree, was in two totally different areas.

The 1977 car received $3,000 damage after hitting the tree, but it had been damaged to the tune of $500 earlier when it struck down $30 worth of guide posts along highway 121 east of Minden.

On Thursday, two vehicles collided at the intersection of highways 35 and 121 at Minden when one vehicle failed to stop and ended up rolling over in the west ditch.

Gordon Bailey, 26, of Cobocok, was driving a 1974 truck, owned by Carl Baldwin which was damaged to the tune of $4,000.

He was unable to stop at the intersection and turned northbound onto highway 35 and struck a 1977 pickup driven by John Martin, 48 of Minden.

Damage to the Martin vehicle amounted to $2,000.

Investigation by Provincial Constable Al Barnes.

No Charge

The printing of police reports such as robberies, murders or even the simplest car accident has always been a touchy subject. The slightest misunderstanding of the printed word could find the newspaper in the middle of a libel suit or possibly worse. It could ruin an innocent person's reputation for a long time to come.

These misunderstandings, the most common of which is most people believe once a person is charged, he is automatically convicted. Not so.

Fortunately in our system of justice a man is innocent until proven guilty. This means although he may be charged by the particular police force he is not a criminal until sentenced by a judge or jury.

It is with this in mind that this newspaper will no longer be printing any charges laid until the person charged with the offence either pleads guilty to the crime or the courts begin to try his case.

This policy comes on the heels of a private member's bill now trying to make its way successfully through Queen's Park. The bill would provide an act to protect the reputation of innocent people from untimely publicity.

In the past we have printed charges laid but since we could not justify spending days on end in the courts the person charged with the offence has become a subject of public gossip while he may never have been convicted of the crime.

In this way we hope to do our part to make the justice system in this country a little better for everyone.

Congratulations to Randy Grant! As you read in last week's paper, Randy was the winner of the Air Canada tickets for two to anywhere the airline serves, drawn at the O.F.S.C. convention from all entries in this year's Snowarama for Timmy. I was especially pleased that the winner was a Haliburton snowmobiler and a recent graduate from the O.F.S.C. driver training program. Randy received his licence last season from Dennis Casey, one of the club instructors for the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association.

The O.F.S.C. (Ontario Federation of Snowmobile Clubs) enjoyed a very successful convention. It was held this year in the Royal Connaught Hotel in Hamilton, April 6th, 7th and 8th. Despite the severe storm on Friday, some 800 delegates turned out to join in the festivities and to deliberate on matters of concern to snowmobilers across the Province.

A most successful innovation at this convention was the adoption of the seminar format. Eight seminar topics were offered, each repeated three times so that all delegates could participate in the three of greatest interest to them. From my own observation as an analyst, and from remarks of the delegates, it is clear that this format served to improve the free exchange of information and ideas between clubs, and between the clubs collectively and the Federation board of directors.

Guest speaker was the Honorable James Snow, Minister of Transportation and Communications, who applauded the snowmobile clubs and their Federation for their excellent work promoting safety in snowmobiling. While the incident of accidents was up slightly this year, the safety record of clubs remains virtually spotless. Mr. Snow gave his assurance of continued co-operation and support from his ministry.

Two snowmobilers were the lucky winners of two machines donated by John Deere for the monster snowmobile raffle. Tickets were issued to all Federated clubs early in the winter with 50% of proceeds retained by the clubs and 15% of the remainder going to the Ontario Society for Crippled Children. As an indication of the success of the venture, the cheque that I was privileged to present to Tammy was in the amount of Three Thousand Dollars.

Two new faces will be seen at the boardroom table this year. They are Jim Derry of Brantford and Dean Smith of Leamington. All other positions were filled by directors re-elected. In the O.F.S.C. a director's term is two years, with eight of sixteen elected at each annual meeting. Executive positions are filled from within the board, with this mini-election taking place prior to the close of convention. The new Federation President is Robert Feasey, of Strathroy, who has served most capably as Treasurer in the past year. Vice Presidents are Chuck Mann (First) of Kincardine, and (Second) John Bean of Bala. Treasurer is Ted Pollock, Bobcaygeon, and the Recording Secretary is Phil Ormsby of London who retains the position. This writer automatically assumes the position of Immediate Past President.

My heartiest congratulations to Bob Feasey and his Executive, and to the two new directors. With a good carry-over of workers from the previous board, I am confident the O.F.S.C. is in good hands!

Ontario municipalities to save energy

TORONTO — Municipalities in Ontario are receiving assistance in their efforts to save energy and tax dollars.

A newly-created Provincial-Municipal Joint Steering Committee on Energy Conservation last week contacted the 837 municipalities in the province to encourage them to undertake voluntary energy conservation programs, and to offer guidance.

The committee was formed following an appeal last fall by Ontario Energy Minister James Auld to the Provincial Municipal Liaison Committee (PMLC). The Municipal Liaison Committee (MLC), the municipal arm of the organization, designed the Association of Counties and Regions of Ontario (ACRO) as its representative on the joint steering committee.

"More and more municipalities are starting to examine their operations to identify ways in which they can reduce energy consumption to save tax dollars," Mr. Auld said. "Through this new committee the Ontario Government can share with them our several years of experience in reducing energy consumption in provincial government operations."

Most Ontario municipalities are spending an estimated 8 to 12 per cent of their property tax revenue on energy. In 1977, municipalities with a population of 70,000 spent roughly $1 million — about 10 per cent of their property taxes — on energy bills.

The committee urged all municipalities to undertake programs which would include:

- * the approval of a resolution by Council to participate in a voluntary energy conservation program
- * the appointment of an energy co-ordinator to serve as a contact between the municipal council and the joint steering committee
- * the participation of the appointed co-ordinator in energy conservation seminars
- * the development of an internal reporting system to verify energy savings.

The committee stressed that such a program would not involve the hiring of additional staff at the municipal level or the need to increase municipal budgets.

On the contrary, with even the most elementary steps, tax dollars can be saved.

"Our aim is to increase energy awareness at the municipal level. This involves the introduction of straightforward, housekeeping measures rather than capital spending."

Co-chairmen of the committee are Walter Beath, chairman of the Regional Municipality of Durham and Chairman of the Municipal Liaison Committee, and Dr. Ian Rowe, executive co-ordinator of the conservation and renewable energy group of the Ministry of Energy.

Earlier this year, the Ministry of Energy issued to municipalities a guide to energy conservation in public buildings and made available a booklet and film identifying opportunities for municipalities to save money through the conservation of energy.

To most Canadians, the battle for control of one of the nation's largest department store chains is little more than a business game to be viewed from the sidelines.

Yet the massive deal that so excites shareholders and the media as the bidding war progresses has the capacity to affect all Canadians, perhaps driving up retail prices as competition is reduced.

The players in this conglomerate war that involves hundreds of millions of dollars:

*The George Weston Group of companies with sales of $5.2 billion, derived from interests in food processing, fisheries, forest products, and the 350 or so supermarkets operated by Loblaw's and associated companies.

*The cash rich Thomson family which owns and operates about 50 Canadian newspapers in addition to hefty worldwide investments in everything from the media, to oil, to travel and tours.

*The target, of course, is the 309-year-old Hudson's Bay Co. which recently took control of Simpsons Ltd. and Zellers Ltd. Combined sales of that operation: almost $3 billion. In addition, The Bay owns about a third of Simpsons.

Sears Ltd., the country's other big department store retailer.

While the federal government's Combines Investigation Branch had been concerned about the increase in corporate concentration, an official complaint from six smaller companies backed by the 54,000 member Canadian Federation of Independent Business is expected to force the Combines Branch to completely investigate the takeover attempt by Weston.

As a result, the case for consumers and smaller Canadian businesses that compete with and supply the corporate giants will be heard.

The politicians may also be forced to act, calling a halt to any deal, at least until after the federal election.

While either of the proposed takeovers would have far-reaching effects on competition, the bid by the Weston group is troublesome indeed.

The combination would have enormous power in the Canadian marketplace. A couple of examples of how that power could be used:

*The Weston Group could extend its policy of vertical integration in the food industry to the department store field, replacing smaller Canadian manufacturers with company-owned suppliers.

In addition, the temptation to subtly squeeze out present suppliers of The Bay, replacing them with Weston controlled manufacturers, would be difficult to overcome.

*By controlling The Bay, Weston would also gain a powerful influence on shopping plaza operations. The combined companies could control the anchor stores — grocery and department merchandising outlets — so necessary to draw traffic and support shopping centres.

In the case of a Thomson takeover of The Bay, the potential for the department store chain to receive preferential treatment by Thomson-owned newspapers, particularly on advertising, is significant.

Until now, Canada's media has generally not been involved at such close range with its paying advertisers.

Whatever the outcome, Canadians can at least be assured the situation is now being reviewed.

Roger Worth is Director, Public Affairs, Canadian Federation of Independent Business.

David Logan opens campaign headquarters

David Logan, Liberal candidate for Victoria and Haliburton Counties and his Campaign Committee officially opened the Liberal Committee rooms at 60 Russell Street West, (near corner of Russell and Cambridge). A good number of Liberal supporters were on hand to kick off the campaign and Mr. Logan was delighted to have the support, the facilities and the spirit that existed.

Mr. Logan responded with an address that stressed the need for agricultural process manufacturing in Victoria and Haliburton Counties. According to the candidate this will be one of the main planks in his political platform.

Mr. Logan is of the opinion that far too many secondary manufacturing firms are centralized in Toronto. He used as his example the cheese processing business. In the cheese business alone $5,000,000 in retail sales are generated by an employed population of 8,000 people. He asks the question - "Why aren't some of these people employed in Victoria and Haliburton Counties?" He stated that it seems inefficient and incompatible to transport raw materials from an area such as Victoria and Haliburton to an urban area such as Toronto to be processed and then returned to the area for sale. Mr. Logan stated that if elected he would do all in his power to encourage the government to allow considerations that would encourage the relocation of agricultural process manufacturing to areas such as Victoria and Haliburton.

Mr. Logan also made the point, "that in our country cheese is being traded off for typewriters. Our country has been entering into reciprocal arrangements with foreign countries whereby they put our back provided we put their back. To be specific, we have been trading typewriters on the proviso that we will import foreign cheese. As a result our domestic cheese manufacturing has been curtailed due to reduction of quotas by the Milk Marketing Board." Mr. Logan stated, "that we had a market for twice the cheddar that is manufactured domestically." If elected, he stated, "that he would stand up to the Trade Minister and be counted on behalf of the constituents of Victoria and Haliburton."

Mr. Logan stated he was pleased at the response and support which he has been receiving from the constituents of Georgina Township. Georgina Township is in the Regional Municipality of York and is an area that is part of our riding in a federal election whereas it was not part of our jurisdiction during the last provincial election. He stated that "he will be pleased to work on their behalf and that because of his youth and ambition the size of the riding, although large, should not be a deterrent. In addition, he maintained that he would pressure the government for funds to support constituency offices in the outlying areas of the riding.

KINMOUNT CALLING

By Sam and Margaret Telford

April is election time for Legion executives, male and female. On Wednesday, April 11th, the Ladies Auxiliary annual election was held, and the results were as follows: President: Lill Platt, Vice President: Dagmar Simpson, 2nd Vice President: Ruth Menard, Treasurer: Mary Munro, Secretary: Vivien Anderson, Sergeant-at-Arms: Helen Byne, Executive: Joyce Brown, Gladys Silver, Gertie McKay.

Congratulations to all on the new slate!

The election was supervised by Zone Commander Phyllis Montemiglio and her assistant, Alma McPherson from Lindsay. A light supper was served after the business meeting. The officers will be installed in a joint ceremony with the men's executive sometime late in May. In the meantime, members currently in office will be responsible for a Zone Rally on Sunday, May 6th.

We hear that the Legion Bingo pot is getting fat again. They will be up to fifty-eight numbers and about one hundred and eighty dollars for the coming Friday.

The recent high winds have probably done a fair amount of damage around the area, but the only thing we have actually seen was up at the Fair Grounds, where part of the sun visor on the grand stand was hanging loose. Another little problem for the Fair Board, with their busy season coming up!

The Festival committee needs red and yellow flood lights to complete the lighting equipment for the play "Our Town". We are speaking about the kind used at Christmas time outside homes. If any of our readers would be kind enough to loan these, they would be well looked after.

Newsworthy human activity seems to be at a low ebb in Kinmount this week, but the moles are literally having a field day. Our lawns will never be the same again. One year, on the advice of a neighbour, we tried filling the holes with mothballs. It did not work. One year, we just kept raking and filling in the holes. It did not work. It seems that when they are ready to leave, they just disappear, and we think they go to gather up the troops and make plans for the onslaught next year. Does anyone have an answer? We are interested enough at this point to start a study.

That's all for now. Good night.

$26 million for OYEP

TORONTO - Reintroduction of the Ontario Youth Employment Program for the third year, to run from April 30 to October 21, was announced in the Legislature today by Treasurer Frank Miller.

Designed to help young people gain work experience, the program offers employers in the private sector a wage subsidy of $1.25 an hour.

According to Mr. Miller, this year's program will allow more flexibility in hiring. Businesses and farms may apply for a grant for up to 150 weeks of employment at each business location, regardless of the number of positions created.

"This will provide greater flexibility for the employer and allow him to maximize the benefits of the program since, in previous years, he was restricted to 6 positions at each business location, even if the positions lasted only 6 or 7 weeks. The practical effect of the new rule is that if employers can create new work for as little as 6 weeks, which is the minimum, they may apply for up to 25 employees for this period," Mr. Miller said.

To qualify for OYEP a young person must reside in Ontario and be at least 15 years of age, but not yet 25 on or before May 1. Those who turn 15 after May 1, 1979 are not eligible. Nor are those who are related to the employer.

In his statement to the House the Treasurer said he expects that OYEP, budgetted at $26 million, will produce 40,000 jobs. Last year's figures were 34,000 jobs produced, at a cost to the Province of $20 million.

The 1979 Ontario Youth Employment Program will be operated within the Ministry of Intergovernmental Affairs under the direction of Minister Tom Wells.

Employers who participated in 1978 will automatically receive 1979 application forms by mail. Employers wishing to participate for the first time may write to: Subsidies Branch, Ministry of Intergovernmental Affairs, Queen's Park, Toronto M7A 2R8.

Prospective OYEP employers may phone 1-800-268-7592 (toll free) or, in Metro Toronto 965-0570. In Northern Ontario, calls should be made collect to 965-0570 in Toronto.

Ontario assessment team sent to Harrisburg

TORONTO -- Energy Minister James Auld advised last week that a four-man Ontario scientific team has been sent to Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, to assess the implications for Ontario of the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant incident.

"The team's objectives are two-fold," the Minister said. "First, they are to provide up-to-the-minute information on the procedures being taken to normalize conditions at the plant. Second, the team will observe the precautionary public safety procedures which have been put into effect by the responsible United States agencies."

Mr. Auld said he was reassured that conditions so far in the plant, near Harrisburg, are such that there is no perceived danger to any Ontario residents.

He also stated that, since the incident occurred, close contact has been maintained with U.S. utility authorities, with the responsible Canadian federal Government agencies, and, through them, with the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

The assessment team is composed of representatives of the Ministry of Energy, the Occupational Health and Safety Branch of the Ministry of Labour, and Ontario Hydro.

Wilberforce does it again!

Delicious. Absolutely delicious. That was the only way to describe the pancakes and sausages served at the Wilberforce Maple Syrup Festival held at the Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre, last Saturday.

Many tourists and locals turned up for the annual event which seemingly brought many syrup lovers out of winter's hibernation.

In fact the volunteers keeping the festival moving were kept busy just refilling the syrup pitchers.

Many local groups and individuals alike, had booths set up around the auditorium selling antiques, books, hand crafts, baked goods, maple syrup and free puppies. Although the puppies were a great hit with the children they seemed to be causing a lot of grief to parents trying to explain why their child couldn't take it home even if it was cute and cuddly.

Across the street from the festivities the Home and Garden show was underway in the Monmouth arena.

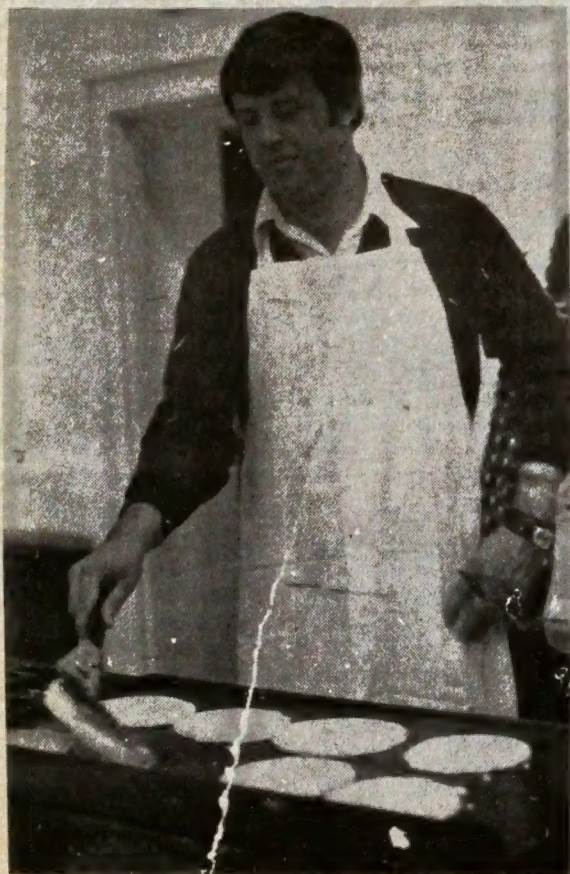

This show brought businessmen from Kinmount, Minden, Harcourt, Halibur-ton and many others from the surrounding area to display their products.

On show were travel homes, trucks, cars, lawn and garden machinery, wood stoves, a log skidder, a rock and stone display, along with boats, furniture, tractors and many other items.

The day was a complete success, but then, that's nothing new for Wilberforce.

Control Warbles now

Warble flies cause thousands of dollars damage to cattle in Victoria and Haliburton Counties every year. The majority of damage is done by the warble grubs which live over winter as parasites in the cattle's bodies.

These grubs are now entering the final and most destructive stage of their cycle. This is when they form large lumps on the back of their host animal, then cut a hole through the hide to escape and start a new cycle as adult flies this summer.

Everyone who owns cattle should check their animals now, to see if there are any warble grubs developing lumps on the cattle's backs.

If you find any lumps, the infected cattle should be treated before going on to pasture. This treatment will kill the grubs before they become flies, and start the cycle over again.

If you fail to treat infected cattle, you are ensuring that both you and your neighbour's cattle will continue to suffer damage. This damage can lose you a lot of money this year.

Infected cattle can be treated now with a systemic insecticide, or sprayed with a regular insecticide twice during the next several weeks.

Systemic insecticides such as Spoton, Grubbex, Neguvon, Ruelene or Co-op Warble Killer, are readily available at most farm supply outlets. These are easy to apply and cost around 30 to 50 cents per head for material.

If you prefer to spray your cattle, several custom sprayers are available in the area. Several townships make arrangements for these people to spray cattle in their township — contact your township clerk to obtain more details.

Election administration complex

Some 275,000 election workers and up to 50 million documents and forms will help make it possible for you to cast your vote in Canada's 31st Federal Election on May 22nd.

These large numbers of people and official forms underline the complex, administrative effort that goes into running a general election.

An estimated $50 million will be spent on election administration and another $10 million for partial reimbursement of expenses of parties and candidates.

The centre of election planning and direction is on Coventry Road in East Ottawa, in the offices of Canada's Chief Electoral Officer, Jean-Marc Hamel, and his permanent staff of 45.

In an adjoining warehouse area, there is a 1,000-ton buildup of supplies prior to and during the election period — instruction booklets for election officials and candidates, ballot paper, proxy voting forms, expense reporting forms for candidates and their agents, and many more.

In the region of country near Kinmount was the old West Monck Road and near here also Victoria, Peterborough and Haliburton Counties cornered. As in the early years this county was part of Peterborough County.

Many of the settlers in this area came from Micklenburg, Germany settling on the 14th and 15th concessions of Galway Township, about two miles south of Kinmount.

They had come by way of Port Hope and as they came from the Fatherland (Deutschland) were often called Dutch. Some names in this area were Cobden, Dettman, Knette, Deedman and Boldt and therefore the road was called Dutch Line.

Five miles north of Kinmount where Highway 519 branches off in Snowdon Township, there settled Ogglesones, Schraders, Geezas and Hollefriens. This road was also called Dutch Line and further along were the Schroters, Scheffees, Longs and Vicks and this became known as Upper Dutch Line.

These settlers were most successful on their new land, as they were proud, thrifty, hard working, and many descendants are here in the same area yet. However they were upset at being called Dutch when really they were of German origin.

The other German Settlement was in Anson Township on what is now the County Road and formerly known as River Road. This part of these townships has some beautiful homes, not now homesteaders, but more for retired people who enjoy their pleasant home on the river.

It is great to remember how these families came so far and made their way with their resources and were successful. They added their heritage to that of many other races which have intermingled, but few speak German in this area.

Diamond jubilee

Margaret and Arnold Roberts celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary last Monday. Friends and relatives helped celebrate the occasion on Saturday with 75 attending a supper at the Orange Hall in Haliburton. The couple have Haliburton origins with Mr. Roberts growing up 'right in the centre of things' and Mrs. Roberts living on the outskirts of the then fledgling village.

"My family's house was right at the centre of town. With ten children in the family we had a table for twelve and I remember on Sundays we may have had three of those tables set up and we'd have to wait for the fourth before we ate," said Mr. Roberts at his home on Monday.

They were married in the Haliburton area in 1919 and moved into their own home on Maple Ave. in 1921 which they still occupy with their two daughters Leda and Marie.

The couple received recognition from the Prime Minister, Ontario Premier Davis, Queen Elizabeth II, MPP John Eakins, MP Bill Scott and many other well wishers.

Mr. Roberts is the third member of his family to celebrate his 60th anniversary and his brother, now living in Saskatchewan, just celebrated his 64th in February.

At the celebration on Saturday six of the original wedding party (including the bride and groom) were on hand to help reminisce.

Mr. Roberts' feeling, "Well, I don't know about Mother, but I'm sure satisfied," Mrs. Roberts just smiled.

issues in Parliament, then the views of our people don't get known," he added.

If elected, Mr. Logan said he would ask the speaker that the matter be moved to committee so a representation could be made on behalf of the Victoria-Haliburton people.

"This is one of the few issues that are very important to Victoria-Haliburton," he said.

BILL SCOTT, Conservative, incumbent

"We tried to get the best of a bad bill," said Mr. Scott, stating that 32 amendments were made by the conservative party on the original bill.

"It's not going to stop the crook, I don't believe that at all," said the incumbent.

"The bill has been passed so there's not much we can do to erase that, but if we form a government we'll try to improve it for the law-abiding citizen," he added.

Mr. Scott's secretary, Russ Wunker, told the Times that bill C-51 was a revised version of bills C-83 and 84.

He said Mr. Scott acted on committee to suggest amendments to these acts.

These bills were a package of capital punishment sexual offences and other unrelated issues that the conservatives thought should be dealt with separately, said Mr. Wunker.

Patrick Daniel the NDP candidate was not available for comment at press time.

other election officers normally have about 60 days in which to prepare for polling or voting day.

An electoral map of Canada -- dividing the country into electoral districts -- is drawn up each 10 years by the federal Electoral Boundaries Commission, and this map by itself reflects the mammoth job of bringing the democratic ballot to Canadians.

An electoral district in a city may be only one square mile in size while others, such as Nunavut in the Northwest Territories, may be many thousands of square miles.

"The problems of travel and communications are challenging because of large geographic areas and many isolated communities," says Mr. Hamel, the Chief Electoral Officer. "And these problems are compounded by the necessity of doing our various tasks according to very tight schedules. However, much work and planning is done in between elections so that we are ready to go when an election is called."

As for the large amounts of forms and documents that are moved and used in the election period, they do have essential purposes.

"We have tried to cut red tape and have in fact reduced the number of forms in use; but many of them remain necessary under law and to ensure smooth and efficient service to the electors," says Mr. Hamel, the Chief Electoral Officer. "In addition, some new forms have been necessary under the provisions of the election expenses sections of the Canada Elections Act."

Rules that limit spending by parties and candidates and a system of partial reimbursement of expenses are new since the last general election in 1974.

The 1979 election cost, estimated at $50 million for administration, compares with $29.1 million for the general election in 1974.

Three main factors have pushed costs higher. The number of eligible voters has increased from 13.3 million in 1974 to an estimated 14.9 million now. The number of electoral districts has increased from 264 to 282. And inflation has driven up the costs of materials and labour.

Administrative cost per elector is expected to be $3.10 in this election, up from $2.18 in 1974.

The three principle cost areas are the enumeration of electors, the printing of lists, notices and ballot papers, and polling day activities expected to cost $15 million, $7 million and $14 million respectively.

In addition to the 282 returning officers who are responsible for the elections in the electoral districts, there will be approximately 65,500 individual voting polls set up, each requiring a deputy returning officer and a poll clerk.

While the Chief Electoral Officer and the election office staff coordinate and supervise the electoral process in general, there will be in fact 282 separate elections held on May 22nd, one in each of the electoral districts. The returning officer of each district, appointed by the Governor in Council (the federal cabinet), must supervise and conduct the election and report back to the Chief Electoral Officer.

New arrival is a baby boy for the Rev. and Mrs. David Barker; congratulations.

Don't tell me what you will do
When you have time to spare;
Tell me what you did to-day

Don't tell me what you will give,
When your ship comes in from Sea.

Tell me what you gave to-day
A fettered soul to free.

Don't tell me the dream you have
Of Conquest from afar;

Don't say what you hope to be;

But tell me what you are.

SENIOR LEAGUE

by Doris Robertson

Birthday wishes to Sophia Sanderson who celebrated on April 8th. I neglected to mention her birthday in last week's column.

Monday morning began our week with Fun, Fitness and Crafts in the afternoon, evening entertainment were two real good films, the first entitled "Could You?". This film was all about the handicapped people who made their living by painting my mouth, it's just incredible what these people can do, some work in offices typing, some do painting with their feet, some sculpturing. It's just amazing what people can do if they just put their mind to it.

The next film was "Boating Safety Security" telling how to practise water safety, a very good film for this time of the year.

Tuesday morning devotion was led by Reverend Glenn Roach from Haliburton Pentecostal Church. He brought forth a lovely message in sermon and in song we also had Agnes Taylor to play the organ for our service. In the afternoon we held a Bingo game in our main lounge, there were lucky people all over the place.

Wednesday was just a regular day with Fun and Fitness in the morning and craft work in the afternoon for the ladies and carpet bowling for the men with Lloyd Coleman assisting.

Thursday afternoon Tea Party was served by the Lochlin U.C.W. They brought such a beautiful lunch everyone was stuffed when they left. It's good to see those dear familiar faces. In the evening the fellows from the Kinsmen Club came in to call our Bingo numbers for us.

Friday afternoon in spite of the holiday Grace Cobourn faithfully came in to lead the sing song, with the help of the nursing staff. Everyone enjoyed the afternoon.

We would like to thank the Auxiliary for the beautiful bouquets of Flowers for Easter. So long until next week.

Most common errors at tax time

Canadians should check their calculations before they file their tax returns this month. Last year, over two million errors in arithmetic were caught and adjusted by Revenue Canada, Taxation's computers.

The second most common cause of adjustments to income tax returns in 1978 was the interest, dividends and capital gains deduction. Over 400,000 changes were made to returns because taxpayers either forgot to claim the deduction or claimed less than they were entitled to.

Another claim many taxpayers forgot last year was the employment expense deduction. Approximately 275,000 taxpayers either neglected the deduction or miscalculated it.

Similarly the standard medical and charitable deduction was either overlooked or miscalculated by approximately 175,000 taxpayers whose returns were adjusted by tax assessors.

Another 110,000 tax returns had to be adjusted so that the income reported by taxpayers would agree with the income reported on their T4 information slips.

Of 150,000 corrections to claims for the federal tax reduction for children, 83,000 resulted from taxpayers neglecting to take advantage of the tax reduction.

In the area of personal exemptions, 70,000 taxpayers claiming "other dependants", that is nieces, parents, grandparents or dependants other than children, had their returns adjusted to agree with the proof of support submitted with their returns. In most cases the claims were adjusted to the maximum allowable.

Although many errors on income tax returns can be detected by Revenue Canada's computers, taxpayers who fail to claim certain deductions to which they are entitled could miss out on the tax savings entirely. For example, neither computers nor assessors at the Taxation Centre's would know whether a taxpayer was entitled to claim child expenses or the equivalent-to-married exemption.

Processing of tax returns at the Taxation centres usually takes about eight weeks. Delays are caused when returns are filed without proper receipts, information slips or other necessary information. Each year approximately 500,000 returns are filed without such information as the name of the taxpayer's spouse, children's ages, receipts for charitable donations, Registered Retirement Savings Plans or tuition fees. Missing information or documentation delays the processing of income tax returns until taxpayers have been contacted by mail.

One automatic adjustment to all tax returns is general averaging which can reduce the tax impact of any sudden increase in income by averaging taxable income over the previous four years. Last year, approximately two million taxpayers saved an average of $100 each as a result of general averaging.
